COCKE'S FRIENDS ARE CONFIDENT

Hon. William B. Cocke, one of the prominent candidates for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Fourth District, was in the city last night. Asked by his friends what was the outlook, he said he was confident that when the ballots were counted on the 25th of January he would be the winner. It is known from inside sources that Mr. Cocke has his campaign well in hand; that the eastern end of the district has shown great activity in the matter of paying poll taxes, and that Mr. Cocke's people are in a position not only to say that they are for him, but to deliver the goods. When the assembly of the Legislature there has been a great deal of comment concerning the contest for Congress in the Fourth Congressional District, and naturally Democrats from all sections of the State are taking more or less interest in the controversy. But from what can be gathered on the inside, it looks now as if Mr. Cocke has the better chance than any of his competitors. When asked last night if he would discuss the situation, and if he would say anything concerning his opponents, Mr. Cocke modestly replied, "They are all my friends of mine. I am a candidate for Congress on my merits, and I have the highest hopes, viewing the situation from all sides, that I shall be the winner."

It is generally conceded that Mr. Cocke, having practically the solid support of the eastern end of the district, means that with the division in the city of Petersburg and the western counties, he has the best chance of any man who is in the race.

THE SPIRIT OF WINTER.
The spirit of winter is with us, making its presence known in many different ways—sometimes by heavy snow and blinding winds, and sometimes by driving winds and blinding storms. To many people it seems to take a delight in making things worse, for rheumatism twists harder, twinges sharper, catarrh becomes more annoying, and the many symptoms of scrofula are developed and aggravated. There is not much poetry in this, but there is truth, and it is a wonder that more people don't get rid of these ailments. The medicine that cures them—Hood's Sarsaparilla—is easily obtained, and there is abundant proof that its cures are radical and permanent.

TUCKERMAN WINS PRESIDENT'S CUP

Chevy Chase Player Defeats Hazen, of Fox Hills.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Pinehurst, N. C., January 12.—W. R. Tuckerman, of the Chevy Chase Golf Club, captured the president's cup in this afternoon's final round, of the seventh annual midwinter golf tournament, won by John J. Hazen, of the Fox Hills, over one and one to play, in a contest which was uncertain throughout the journey.

Mr. Hazen was two up on the fifth, but Mr. Tuckerman squared the match at the turn, halved the tenth and eleventh, won the twelfth and thirteenth, halved the fourteenth and fifteenth, lost the long sixteenth and captured the match, the seventeenth with a par three. The features of the game were Mr. Tuckerman's niblick approach on the ninth, placing the ball down on the hole from a bunker thirty yards away. On the fourteenth, a Stymie saved the hole for Mr. Hazen, Mr. Tuckerman's brilliant shot, over the seventh, undoubtedly preventing an extra hole contest. The medal scores were 82 for Mr. Tuckerman and 86 for Mr. Hazen.

President's cup of first division, semi-final—W. F. Tuckerman, Chevy Chase, 111; second, John J. Hazen, Fox Hills, 113. Final, Tuckerman beat Hazen 2 and 1. Consolation, semi-final—W. G. Clark, Woodland, beat R. M. Purves, Woodland, 3 and 2; Charles Presbury, Fox Hills, beat W. L. Crocker, Braeburn, 1 up (19 holes).

Final, Presbury beat Clark 3 and 2.

Several Buildings on Jamestown Exposition Grounds Destroyed.

Norfolk, Va., January 12.—Three persons, two of them children, were burned to death in a fire which early today destroyed several of the smaller buildings on the Jamestown Exposition grounds. The fire started in the Baltimore city building, which was occupied by H. T. Halstead, of Baltimore, as a residence. The occupants were asleep when the fire began. Neva and Walter, who were suffocated and burned before they could be gotten out, and Leon E. Miles, pier foreman of the Virginian Railway, who was asleep also in an upper room, were almost cremated. The fire had gained such headway as to cut off escape. The bodies of the three were almost cremated.

Spread of Typhoid Due to Condition of Water Supply.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Roanoke, Va., January 12.—With half a hundred people bedridden with typhoid fever, and new cases developing every day, Williamson, W. Va., is in the grip of an epidemic, the consequences of which cannot be foretold.

Already the toll of death has been heavy, and the people are becoming alarmed at the rapid spread of the disease. With one accord the city physicians ascribe the epidemic to the water furnished by the city tanks. An investigation of the conditions under which the water supply is procured reveals a situation scarcely conceivable in a civilized community. Not more than 100 yards above the water works intake the beach and river edge are strewn with refuse and garbage refuse matter, the offal of the city. Within a few feet of this breeding place of disease, the water is pumped and blackened water from the Williamson branch pours into the river, to be carried to the intake, which furnishes the people with drinking water.

For the past two months the number of typhoid cases has been unusually large, but only during the past ten days or two weeks has the situation become alarming.

An appeal directed to Judge Sampson, of the Mingo Criminal Court, and grand jury, while in session last week, investigated the situation with a view to ascertaining the culpability of the Williamson officials in their treatment of the water situation, but no indictment was found.

EXCELSIOR MILL BURNED.

The fire department was unable to control the fire during the night. The loss was $14,000. There was no insurance.

McKoy, Wilmington, deputy grand master; F. M. Winchester, Charlotte, senior grand warden; Jno. T. Alderman, Henderson, junior grand warden; Leo D. Hart, Raleigh, treasurer; and Jno. C. Drury, Raleigh, grand secretary.

The Grand Lodge adopted a resolution to place a marble bust of Governor Samuel Johnston in the rotunda of the State House, he having been the first grand master in the jurisdiction. The sum of $7,500 was appropriated toward paying off the temple indebtedness last year $10,000 was appropriated for home-based surplus. Temple finances were reported in fine condition.

Bradstreet's Report.
Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond and vicinity:
Trade conditions generally have a favorable aspect, and those engaged in all lines are entering upon this new year with anticipation of active trading and a profit-making year. The usual quietude of inventory season prevails in mercantile lines, and houses that have sent their travelers out to report ordering of satisfactory volume. The high price of provisions of all kinds is a factor in the trade. Shoe sales are up to the average. Drugs are active. Naval stores are firm at recent prevailing prices. The price of cotton continues to stimulate trade in the South. Weather has retarded the marketing of home-grown cotton; however, prices are satisfactory for all offerings. Cotton trade is quiet, following the holiday rush. Collections generally are good.

LONGS PANIC-STRICKEN.
In All Parts of World They Seem to Be Liquidating Cotton.
New York, January 12.—There was a further big break in the cotton market to-day, making the third sensational slump in prices since the movement started early last week. Panic-stricken longs in all parts of the world seemed to be liquidating their cotton, the market prices and the action of the market suggesting the collapse of the Sully boom.

For more than a year the cotton market has been steadily advancing, and toward the end of last month prices had reached a level which since the Civil War had only been equaled when Sully was almost wrecked in his time. March contracts selling at 16.17 and May at 16.46. But at the culmination of the advance, more contracts sold at 14.50 and May at 14.75, a loss from the high record of from $3.50 to $4.00 per bale, almost all of which has occurred during the past week. The declines from the closing prices of last night amounted to more than $2.00 per bale.

There does not appear to have been any change in general trade conditions. A large amount of business is being done, but in contrast to the Sully year, no financial difficulties have been precipitated.

It is apparent, however, that one after another of the big bull cliques which have been organized independently during the progress of the big bull market have been liquidating. Possibly the selling movement was originally due to an effort to obtain profits on long lines, owing to the approach of the new planting season and expectation of greater increased area, while the absence of any speculative short interest left the market with very little support. It was reported today that spinners were buying more freely in the South, and late advices from the leading Southern spot markets show no material weakness.

McWane Company's Losses Adjusted.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lynchburg, Va., January 12.—The insurance company involved in the fire at the McWane Foundry, Fourteenth and a half streets, last night, has adjusted the loss to-day, fixing the amount at $30,000. This is $5,000 less than the first estimate of the loss. The company will rebuild, and the new building will be of concrete.

LAYMEN CONSIDER MISSIONARY WORK
First Session of State Convention Held in Greensboro.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Greensboro, N. C., January 12.—The first session of the North Carolina Laymen's Missionary Movement State Convention was held in West Market Street Methodist Church, where all the meetings will be held here to-night. Although the regular sessions of the convention were not to begin until Thursday morning, enough delegates had arrived to-night to nearly fill the edifice. All incoming trains are filled with laymen and clergymen of all denominations, indicating a very large attendance at the convention, which will last until Friday night. The registration books to-night showed that 1,000 had paid the dollar fee and were entitled to seats on the first day of the convention. This is said to be the largest registration yet known at a similar State convention held in the South.

After appropriate welcome preliminary from local authorities to-night, Rev. D. Clay Lilly, D. D., of Alabama, was introduced, and formally inducted as presiding officer of the convention, assuming his duties as such and directing the subsequent proceedings.

Three instructive and interesting addresses were then made on matters relating to missionary work and the missionary spirit. Rev. C. A. Janvier, of India, spoke on the subject "Asia Awake and Waiting."

Dr. George Cromer, of Newberry, S. C., spoke on "Men and Missions," emphasizing strongly the need for men, laymen of the churches, to help lift the burden from women. C. H. Pratt, of Atlanta, Ga., concluded with a fine address on "America's World Responsibility." In connection with carrying the gospel to lands where her civilization and commerce had brought such enlightenment as to undermine centuries of belief in false gods.

There will be three sessions of the convention Thursday at 9:30 A. M., 2:30 P. M., and 7:30 P. M.—and three Friday at the same hours, and at each sons, this afternoon, elected Richard N. Hackett, former Congressman, of Wilkesboro, grand master; W. B. McKoy, Wilmington, deputy grand master; F. M. Winchester, Charlotte, senior grand warden; Jno. Although the regular sessions of the convention were not to begin until Thursday morning, enough delegates had arrived to-night to nearly fill the edifice. All incoming trains are filled with laymen and clergymen of all denominations, indicating a very large attendance at the convention, which will last until Friday night.
